COMPLYING WITH PHARMACY LAWS

Secretary of State Board Gives Salem Druggists a Month in Which to Get Right.

The visit of Judge Blakeley, secretary of the State Board of Pharmacy, and consultation with the district attorney, has caused a commotion among the druggists of this city, and resulted in a broad charge being published that there are drug stores running in this city that do not keep the services of a registered pharmacist, as required by law.

Some of the druggists go so far as to say that the state institutions do not comply with the law, and the statements of the different druggists do not agree as to who keeps the letter of the law, and who does not. The law allows registered apprentices, and registered assistants, but they can only be left temporarily in charge of a drug store. One registered druggist on State street says only three drug stores in the city are complying with the law requiring them to keep a registered pharmacist who puts up all prescriptions and handles drugs and poisons. It seems also there are registered licentiates, registered juniors and seniors, and registered physicians who are allowed to put up prescriptions.

One druggist says some of the unregistered pharmacists are better and more competent than some of the graduates of the state board. One Salem drug store has two registered pharmacists and an emergency man, while one drug store is running with a certificate of registration in the name of a druggist who conducts a store in another town, but is within easy call of a telephone.

A reporter called on Secretary Blakeley and he said the Salem drug stores were as well conducted as in most towns, although some of them were not complying with the law, and unless their methods changed they would be subject to heavy fines and penalties, but will be given a month to comply with the law.

A Valley of Death in Bolivia.

There is a valley in Bolivia, South America, which might well be called the Valley of the Shadow of Death. It has been inhabited for an indefinite period of years by the Kanaa Indians, who are kindred to the various South American tribes and number now only a few hundred souls. That they were once a very powerful tribe is indicated by the condition of the land which they as a tribe still inhabit. One cannot travel any distance through their land without coming upon the old and forsaken burial grounds of the Kanaa dead. These places cannot be called graveyards, for the bodies are not buried, but rather placed upon elevated platforms, wrapped in the garments of death and bound to the crossbeams that they may not be displaced.

In one of these burial grounds there will be probably 50 high skeleton platforms and on each will lie from three to five of the Kanaa dead. The air in that part of Bolivia is very pure and preservative, for it is one of the highest plateaus of the continent, although Kanaa valley is just a little below the plateau's height. A traveler passing through that land at night and by moonlight would be awe-stricken at the gloomy vision those graveyards present.

EDWIN MAYS DISCHARGED

It Looks Now as Though the Case Made by Heney Is Weak and All Defendants Go Clear.

Portland, Or., Jan. 28.—Edwin M. Mays, co-defendant with John Hall and on trial with Hall at this time, charged with conspiring with Hall and certain officers of the Butte Creek Land & Livestock Company to defeat justice and defraud the government of its public domain, was discharged this morning by Judge Hunt on a motion made by Attorney Wilson, Mays's attorney, on the ground that no evidence had been submitted by the government which tended to connect Mays with the alleged conspiracy, as charged in the indictment. Heney opened the morning session by asking Judge Hunt to instruct the jury to find Mays not guilty as the government had been unable to connect him with the charges filed against him. Attorney Wilson then amended Heney's motion by asking Hunt to discharge the defendant. This was done. This afternoon Attorney Webster, for Hall, will argue a motion directing Judge Hunt to instruct the jury to bring in a verdict of acquittal in Hall's case, on the ground that no evidence has been introduced showing that Hall was guilty of any of the acts charged. Heney will contest this motion.

WANT DALZELL BROWN

DECLARED A BANKRUPT.

San Francisco, Jan. 28.—A petition was filed this morning with Federal Judge DeHaven by Frieda R. Major, Maud R. Ralston and Kate O'Connell asking that J. Dalzell Brown, former manager of the California Trust Company, be declared a bankrupt. It is alleged that between the months of September and October the three plaintiffs deposited $1125, $100 and $1774, respectively, in the California Safe Deposit & Trust Company. They accuse Brown and other officials of embezzling that amount. They also state that the embezzling officials loaned $5,000, 000 without adequate security and $3,000,000 was directly or indirectly borrowed by the directors or officers of the defunct institution. They also ask that the beautiful Brown home in this city and the ranch near Clear Lake, Cal., which Brown deeded to his wife, and the stocks, bonds, automobiles, etc., which he also gave to Mrs. Brown, be taken charge of by the court. Judge DeHaven gave the defendant until February 10 to show cause why the prayer of the plaintiffs should not be granted.

CALIFORNIA PIONEER

COMMITTS SUICIDE.

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 28.—Colonel Louis L. Bromwell, one of the best known insurance and club men in the state, a former leader in Republican politics and an old-time resident of Oakland, is dead, a suicide. He went to his apartments in the beautiful home of the Elks' Club, in Oakland, some time Sunday night and shot himself in the head. His body was found yesterday afternoon by Captain E. M. Freeman, an old-time friend and fellow member of the club. The revolver tightly clasped in the right hand told of self-destruction.

Although Colonel Bromwell complained Sunday of a severe cold he was apparently in the best of spirits. It is known, however, that he had suffered severe financial reverses in the past year, and this is believed to have been the cause of his suicide.

BREEDERS' ASSOCIATION

ATTRACTING MANY.

Washington, Jan. 28.—From every section of the country delegates are swarming here to attend the fourth annual session of the American Breeders' association, which opened today. Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson will preside. Reports on animal and plant introduction, breeding for dairy production, breeding high bred cattle and similar subjects were submitted at today's initial meeting by the committee which deals with this particular feature of the program. In connection with the convention the American Carnation Society is giving an exhibition, and will meet in a business session tonight.

Special Session in West Virginia.

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 28.—When the special session of the West Virginia legislature convened today the members were told that Governor Dawson will recommend for passage 27 measures. One of them will ask for a more effectual law prohibiting liquor from being sold on Sunday. The legislature will also take under consideration the proposition to have West Virginia represented at the Alaska-Yukon exposition.
